

Contents

Chapter 1.	Introduction	9
Part A. Urbanization
Chapter 2.	Is the prevalence of psychiatric disorders associated with urbanization?	21
Chapter 3.	Prevalence of psychiatric disorders in relation with urbanization in Germany.	33
Chapter 4.	The current status of urban-rural differences in psychiatric disorders.	47
Chapter 5.	Urbanisation and psychiatric admission rates in the Netherlands.	59
Chapter 6.	Admission rates for schizophrenia in the Netherlands: an urban/rural comparison.	73
Chapter 7.	Urbanisation as a risk indicator for psychiatric admission.	83
Chapter 8.	Is urbanicity an environmental risk-factor for psychiatric disorders?	91
Part B. Neighbourhoods
Chapter 9.	Associations between depression in community-living elderly and the environment: a multilevel analysis.	95
Chapter 10.	Social deprivation and psychiatric admission-rates in Amsterdam.	107
Chapter 11.	Social deprivation and psychiatric service use for different diagnostic groups.	121
Chapter 12.	General discussion	135
Summary		155
Samenvatting		163
List of publications		171
Dankwoord		175
Curriculum vitae		179

