

Contents

Chapter 1: General introduction and research questions	7
Chapter 2: Patient record review of the incidence, consequences, and causes of diagnostic adverse events ( Arch Intern Med. 2010;170(12):1015-1021 )	23
Chapter 3: Design of a study on suboptimal cognitive acts in the diagnostic process, the effect on patient outcomes and the influence of workload, fatigue and experience of physician ( BMC Health Services Research 2009, 9:65 )	45
Chapter 4: Relating faults in diagnostic reasoning with diagnostic errors and patient harm ( Acad. Med. 2012;87(2) )	61
Chapter 5: Does selective information use relate to diagnostic errors and patient harm? The diagnosis of patients with dyspnea (under review)	97
Chapter 6: Adverse outcomes in the diagnostic reasoning process are related to residents' subjective workload and work experience ( under review )	115
Chapter 7: Application of an evidence-based decision rule to patients with suspected pulmonary embolism ( under review )	131
Chapter 8: General Discussion	147
Summary in English	167
Summary in Dutch	177
Dankwoord (Acknowledgments)	187
About the author	190
Publication list	191