

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Preface	11
Chapter 1	General introduction and outlines of the thesis	15
Chapter 2	The finding of pre-malignant lesions is not associated with smoking cessation in chemoprevention study volunteers	27
Chapter 3	A website on lung cancer: who are the users and what are they looking for?	41
Chapter 4	Website visitors asking questions online to lung cancer specialists: what do they want to know?	53
Chapter 5	Why do patients and caregivers seek answers from the Internet and online lung specialists? A qualitative study	67
Chapter 6	Lung cancer patients benefit from second opinions by improvement of diagnosis and therapy	87
Chapter 7	Case report series: Benefits of a second opinion for lung cancer	103
	Benefit of a second opinion for lung cancer: no recurrent disease, but infection	104
	Benefit of a second opinion for lung cancer: intrapulmonary metastases or multiple primary tumors?	108
	Benefit of a second opinion for lung cancer: No metastasis to the kidney but a synchronous primary renal neoplasm	112
	Benefit of a second opinion for lung cancer: from metastatic disease to resectable lung cancer with sarcoid-like reaction	116
Chapter 8	The seesaw between the living and the death: how patients and their caregivers cope with lung cancer during the illness trajectory. A qualitative study	121
Chapter 9	Summary, discussion and recommendations	147
	Nederlandse samenvatting	157
	Appendices	167
	List of Publications	179
	Curriculum Vitae	183
	Dankwoord	187

